

Divine Mercy Sunday was instituted in the Church on the Second Sunday of Easter on April 30, 2000 and decreed on May 5th of same year. Since then, there have been many questions as to the requirements of a correct celebration of this Feast of Mercy.

First and foremost, we must realize that it is a refuge for sinners and not a party for devotees. Up until the establishment of the feast in the universal Catholic Church, parishes in many parts of the world had to make separate Masses as to not “interfere” with the flow of regular Sunday Masses.

Today, there is a great need for educating pastors in how to sort out what is actually necessary to correctly celebrate the feast.

The Vatican has laid out all the details in the decree for the special indulgence that was issued specifically for Divine Mercy Sunday. Emphasis was placed in the last paragraph entitled “Duties of Priests” and it includes the following requirements:

Inform Parishioners in the most suitable manner of the special plenary indulgence.

Hear Confessions priests should promptly and generously hear all of the confessions.

Lead the Prayers for the indulgence after celebrating mass, vespers, other liturgies.

Encourage Works of Mercy and charity as often as they can in imitation of Christ.

Note: This decree has perpetual force, any provision to the contrary notwithstanding. Published on August 21st, 2002 in the Vatican’s L’Osservatore Romano.

Let’s look at what these duties involve:

Informing the faithful about the plenary indulgence in the most suitable way. This duty must point to the proclamation of it particularly on Easter Sunday when all of the churches are full to overflowing with souls who have not confessed in decades. What could be a more appropriate time? They are the ones who can most benefit.

Suggestion: Use the Bulletin Insert and the Confession Guide in all Easter Bulletins. It can be found at: www.MercySunday.com .

Include these words in the Easter Homily:
“If you haven’t had a chance to make your yearly confession, don’t miss out on this great opportunity, because next Sunday is our new feast called Divine Mercy Sunday. What our Church is offering next week is called a plenary indulgence, and what this means, in very simple terms, is that, if we go to Confession, and then receive Holy Communion on that day, we can obtain the complete and total forgiveness of all sins and all punishment”.*

We also can’t forget all the other Catholics that do not attend Sunday Masses at all. These souls also need to hear the Good News of the special Plenary Indulgence. Place articles in all the local newspapers, use every form of media including radio and TV spots telling everyone about the chance to obtain complete forgiveness of all sins and punishment. Don’t let anyone get away without hearing about what the Church offers on Divine Mercy Sunday.

Hearing Confessions in a prompt and generous manner. Many people will want to take advantage of the total forgiveness of sins and punishment and will be asking priests to hear their confessions. Be ready for an onslaught of people who have been away from confession for decades. Many priests will be uplifted with the experience and will want to hear many more of these.

Suggestion: Schedule extra time and extra priests for confessions and advertise them, verbally, in the bulletin, and in the media. Encourage those who have already gone to Confession to make room for others to go. The Church is now allowing up to twenty days, before or after, to go to Confession.

Leading the Prayers after the Masses and other liturgical events on that day. The Church wants everybody to be able to receive the grace of the indulgence and has instructed priests to lead the prayers.

Suggestion: On Divine Mercy Sunday after all the Masses, lead the prayers for the indulgence which are: the Our Father, Apostles Creed, and a prayer for the Pope, possibly a Hail Mary. Add an invocation such as “Merciful Jesus, I trust in You”.

Encourage the Faithful to practice works of Mercy and Charity as often as they can, following the example of, and obeying the commandments of Jesus Christ our Lord.

Suggestion: Encourage the faithful to go out and to seek that which was lost and to bring them to the Feast of Mercy. What better act of mercy could there be than to help their fellow man to gain eternal life?

Follow these 8 simple steps:

- 1. Prepare a Homily for Easter Sunday using the suggested words* in this leaflet.
- 2. Copy and Print the Bulletin Insert and the Confession Guide from the web at the www.MercySunday.com website. Put them into all of the Easter bulletins.
- 3. Remind those that have already gone to Confession (within 20 days) to Make Room for others that haven't confess yet.
- 4. Schedule Extra Time for Confessions with all available priests, on the Saturday before Divine Mercy Sunday, if possible.
- 5. Place Articles in all local Newspapers telling everyone about the forgiveness of all sins and punishment that is available. Include the times for Confession. Involve other parishes if they are in the same area.
- 6. Obtain an Image of Divine Mercy if the parish does not have one to help with the liturgy on Divine Mercy Sunday and as a permanent installation in the church.
- 7. Prepare Homily for Mercy Sunday to focus on the forgiveness of sins and tell everyone again about the special plenary indulgence. Remind everyone of the need for a sacramental Confession of all grave sin before receiving Communion. Include the Act of Contrition for those that did not confess and those who have forgotten it.
- 8. On Divine Mercy Sunday after all the Masses, Lead the Prayers for the plenary indulgence, which include: the Our Father, Apostles Creed, and a prayer for the Pope.

First of all, we must recognize the need to get all Catholics back to the practice of their faith. We have a grand opportunity and duty on Easter Sunday to catechize all the Easter-only Catholics and invite them back into participation in the sacramental life of the Church. We cannot let these souls continue to receive Communion in the state of mortal sin, it is a sacrilege.

Canons 768, 769, 777.1, and 773 clearly state the responsibilities of priests. It is imperative that we use this opportunity to instruct these souls with a basic catechesis on why they should confess their serious sins before receiving the Eucharistic Lord.

We should also reach out to those inactive Catholics in our local areas who no longer attend Mass at all. We can do this through every media possible including TV, radio, and newspapers. We also need to reach out and share the good news of the Gospel to those who live within our territory, who are non-believers, as we are called to do as evangelists, as it is stated in Canon 771.2.

We will humbly turn to the Church and follow her direction and we will all be tremendously blessed. Our Lord Jesus reminded us of the need to leave the 99 to get the 1 that was lost, and how much all of Heaven rejoices when just one of those sinners repents and returns (Luke 15: 4-7).

Apostles of Divine Mercy

*801 S.E. Forgal Street, Port St. Lucie
Florida, United States 34983-2737*

www.DivineMercySunday.com

Call toll-free 1-888-732-0722

How to Celebrate Mercy Sunday!

A Step-by-Step Guide to the correct celebration of Divine Mercy Sunday

Includes the “Duties of Priests” that are in the special (perpetual) Plenary Indulgence issued by the Vatican that are the guiding light for those priests wanting to correctly celebrate this great Feast of Divine Mercy.

Geared towards bishops and priests, this guide will show how to correctly celebrate Divine Mercy Sunday in such a way that will yield tremendous fruit and the return of Catholics to the practice of their faith.

Every parish and diocese can experience growth and the joy of seeing the lost sheep being brought back into the fold (Church).